

Dementia and Mental Health Specialty Training

Dementia | July 19 and 20, 2022
Mental Health | July 26 and 27, 2022

COURSE OVERVIEW

Assisted living providers are required to comply with Chapter 388-112A WAC related to staff training and development. As part of these requirements, administrators or their designee(s) who want to train caregivers in the specialty topics of dementia and mental health must complete specialized training in order to qualify as a facility-based trainer. These intensive training sessions prepare administrators or their designated trainers to successfully pass the mandated competency tests required in the specialty topics of dementia and mental health. These courses are designed to make it easy to complete one or both specialty topics. Training and testing are done over two days, for both dementia and mental health specialties. Each course's final session includes a test; the attendees must be on camera to complete the exam.
